A new twist in the Novak Djokovic soap opera: The visa of the Serbian tennis player has been canceled by the Australian Minister of Immigration in the name of public interest and health. It will therefore be difficult for the athlete to participate in the Australian Open which starts on Monday. But the story may not yet be over.

However, if the cancellation of his visa is confirmed, Novak Djokovic could be banned from entering Australia for three years.

At least 8,000 additional people will be recruited in National Education. The government made this announcement after the massive mobilization of teachers yesterday. Nearly 80,000 people demonstrated throughout France to denounce the management of the sanitary crisis by the executive.

After the Yvelines, Paris drops the mask outdoors. The administrative court suspended the decree that made it mandatory to wear a mask in the streets of the capital. The decision is effective as of today.

And a tragedy unfolded in the Pas de Calais, where a migrant died this morning while trying to cross the Channel. The 20-year-old victim is believed to be of Sudanese nationality.

And this is a historic record in France: Business creations approached one million in 2021, which is an increase of 17% compared to the previous year. The transportation sector and the storage and delivery sector which include home deliveries have exploded with the sanitary crisis.

And then unsurprisingly, Nasser Al-Attiyah wins the Dakar in the car category. A fourth coronation for the Qatari driver. The French Sébastien Loeb finishes second.
