His speech was eagerly awaited: Volodymyr Zelensky will speak in a few moments before the UN Security Council. The Ukrainian president will once again alert the international community on the massacre of Boutcha where hundreds of bodies of civilians were found after the departure of the Russian army.

And the war in Ukraine might could reveal other atrocities of this type. This is the fear that the Secretary General of NATO revealed during his speech in Brussels. According to him, Russia is far from being weakened and is in fact repositioning its troops in eastern Ukraine to take control of the entirety of Donbass.

In the rest of the news: 15 suspected cases of salmonella have been identified in France. Each time they concern people who have consumed Kinder products - property of the Ferrero group which has recalled hundreds of its chocolates. Tons of chocolate may could be contaminated. Examinations are still in progress.

The public prosecutor of Bobigny is about to speak to the press. He will provide an update on the investigation after the death of Jérémy Cohen in mid-February in Bobigny. The disabled thirty-year-old of Jewish faith was fatally knocked down by a tram as he tried to flee after a violent attack. The case had provoked the indignation of politicians. The services of the Elysée Palace contacted the parents of the victim to express their compassion.

Two new reconstructions of events took place in the Haut Rhin more than a year after the murderous journey of Gabriel Fortin. The unemployed engineer nicknamed the HRD killer had murdered three women in January 2021 in Ardèche and Drôme. The crimes were never explained and the accused withdrew into silence. He also refused to participate in the reconstruction.
