The Prime Minister Elisabeth Borne sees no need to rush. She does not want to set a specific date for the announcement of her future government. For her, it is necessary to take the time to put together the best team possible. She made this statement this afternoon from Les Mureaux in the Yvelines on the sidelines of her first trip since her appointment at Matignon. Her visit in Yveline concerns mainly the subject equal opportunity.

And Edouard Philippe already says that he will not be part of this government. He brushed aside the idea in a video extract from the program Complément d'Enquête which was broadcast on Twitter. When asked about the appointment of Elizabeth Borne to Matignon, Edouard Phillipe describes her an intelligent, solid, and determined woman.

The parents of the victim were going through a marital crisis.

Life behind bars was requested against the Russian soldier who is on trial for war crime. Vadim Shishimarin is accused of shooting and killing a 62-year-old unarmed civilian on February 28 in the North-East of Ukraine. This morning he asked for forgiveness from the widow of his victim.

And 16 departments are now on drought alert. Territories or prefectures have taken restrictions on the use of water. This is due to very little rainfall. The situation might have an impact on harvests of cereals, including wheat.

As for sports, Didier Deschamps unveiled earlier today a list of 24 players selected for the nations league matches that Les Bleus will play in June. The young Marseillais midfielder Boubacar Kamara is the only new player in the group and the Lensois Jonathan Clauss is called up again. Mbappé, Benzema and Griezman are there, unlike Olivier Giroud.
