

The News

November 9th, 5pm©

by Noele Bouazouni-Prier

What will be France's military strategy in the coming years? The main lines were detailed today by Emmanuel Macron from Toulon. The Head of State wants to strengthen European cooperation. A defense summit with the United Kingdom will be organized with this in mind in the first quarter of 2023. The President also confirmed the end of the Operation Barkhane in the Sahel, speaking of a new strategy on the African continent. It will be finalized within six months.

Tomorrow will be a very difficult day for transportation in the Paris region. The call for a strike launched by the unions to demand wage increases will be very much followed at the RATP. 7 metro lines will be totally closed. On the other hand, very little disruption is expected at the SNCF, TGV and TER.

The rapper Kaaris will be tried on November 10, 2023, before the criminal court of Evry. The artist is accused of domestic violence on his ex-partner who filed a complaint. The young woman will also be tried the same day for violation of residence and degradations according to the public prosecutor. They were both been placed in police custody this morning.

In the United States, there is no red wave and the results are very tight. The mid-term elections are beginning to deliver their verdict. So far, the republicans are given the lead in the House of Representatives but the battle still seems very tight.

As for soccer, the suspense will end tonight: We will know at 8 o'clock the list of French players selected for the World Cup in Qatar. Coach Didier Deschamps is expected to call Olivier Giroud to compete in the competition that starts in 11 days.