

The News

June 22nd 7pm©

by Noele Bouazouni-Prier

The search for the Titan is still underway in the North Atlantic, but the chances of finding the 5 passengers of the submarine alive are now close to zero. The oxygen reserves have been exhausted for several hours. However, the American coast guards in charge of the searches ensure that they will not stop their operations without consulting the families.

The Titan has been missing since Sunday evening, when it was on its way to the wreck of the Titanic. This was a high-risk expedition because of the safety of the submarine, which was singled out long before its departure.

The Marine Technology Society sent a letter to OceanGate and the New York Times to denounce the lack of certification of the Titan and the "experimental approach" of the company.

In France, the day after the collapse of a building in the 5th arrondissement emotion prevails. The tragedy left around 50 people injured, including 6 in critical condition. So far, we do not yet know the cause of the accident.

Nicolas Bedos was placed in police custody after accusations of sexual assault. a 25-year-old young woman filed a complaint against the filmmaker on June 12. The events allegedly took place at the beginning of the month in a Parisian bar.

And Martinique holds its breath. The island is placed under a red cyclone alert before the arrival of storm Bret. The prefecture also calls on the population to be very careful and to stay at home.

And then in basketball: He will go down in history. The 19-year-old Frenchman Victor Wenbanyama is expected to become the first Frenchman chosen first in the NBA Draft tonight.