

The News

September 7th, 8am ©

by Emma Phillips

A teenager has died in Yvelines after colliding with a police vehicle. The accident happened early yesterday evening while the teenager was driving a scooter and refused to comply with an order to stop. He hit another police car at an intersection. Two police officers were taken into custody.

A man has been charged in Seine Maritime on suspicion of killing his wife. Her body was found on Saturday at the family home in the town of Yport. The suspect himself notified the emergency services. He denies the offences and claims that his wife fell down the stairs.

Marion Maréchal is the head of the list of the Reconquête party for the next European elections, in June 2024. Eric Zemmour made the announcement in Le Figaro. The head of the far-right party says he wants to achieve the highest possible score in these elections. Reconquête does not currently have any elected representatives in the European Parliament.

And finally a word about football. The list of nominees for the 2023 Ballon d'Or award has been revealed. Among the thirty finalists is Kylian MBappé who has never won the trophy before. Women in the running include Kadidiatou Diani and Wendie Renard. The winner will be announced on October 30th.