

The News

September 25th 2pm©

by Noele Bouazouni-Prier

Emmanuel Macron is unveiling his project for the environment today. The Head of State is chairing an ecological planning council this afternoon. The objective is to reduce greenhouse gases by 55% by 2030. Announcements are expected, on the price of electricity and policies in favor of electric cars. However, the environmental association Robin des Bois is not expecting much. Its spokesperson even denounces a disconnection between public authorities in the face of climate emergency.

The head of State will make several trips devoted to this subject before the end of the year. The president wants to make it a marker of his second five-year term.

Also in the news, the opening this morning of the trial of the attack at Magnanville. A case that had moved the population in June of 2016, when a couple of police officers were killed in their home in front of their 3-year-old son. The terrorist Larossi Abballa was shot dead during the Raid assault. It is one of his relatives, Mohamed Lamine Aberouz who is tried for complicity in terrorist assassinations. He risks a sentence of life in prison.

A preliminary investigation has been opened for death threats by the Marseille prosecutor's office. This follows the pressure faced by the president of the OM Pablo Longoria. He had withdrawn from his functions within the club after a stormy meeting with groups of supporters last Monday. As for coach Marcelino, he had chosen to resign.

And then in Hollywood an agreement has been reached between screenwriters and studios. This could put an end to the strike which has lasted for almost five months. The demands included better remuneration and protection against artificial intelligence.