

The News

December 14th 7pm©

by Noele Bouazouni-Prier

An electric car for 100 euros per month. Emmanuel Macron announced today the launch of the “My electric leasing” system from January 1st. A system provided for in the latest presidential program of the Head of State and which is aimed at the lowest 50% of household incomes. Those whose reference income is less than 15,400 euros per share and per year. There will be a gradual entry into force.

You can already find out if you are eligible for this aid on the ecologie.gouv.fr website. You can also register to be informed of the opening of the dedicated platform.

A meeting is currently taking place between Elisabeth Borne and her main ministers. They are discussing a progress update on the immigration bill, as the Prime Minister comes out of two days of meetings with executives of the Republicains to try to find a compromise.

Also in the news today, are the chilling confessions of Monique Olivier. Questioned during her trial, the ex-wife of Michel Fourniret gave details on the kidnapping of Estelle Mouzin - The little girl who disappeared in 2003 at the age of 9. "Yes, I knew she was going to die" confessed Monique Olivier. On the other hand, she says she does not know where the body is buried.

And then soccer this evening with the Europa League. Marseille and Rennes, opposed to Brighton and Villareal, can still qualify for the round of 16. As for Toulouse, the team can reach the play-offs. The Toulousains are opposed to the Austrians of Lask.